DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The use of the trademark VELCRO has been noted in this application. It should be capitalized wherever it appears and be accompanied by the generic terminology.

Although the use of trademarks is permissible in patent applications, the proprietary nature of the marks should be respected and every effort made to prevent their use in any manner which might adversely affect their validity as trademarks.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, as in claim 11 the intermediate cap(4) protruding outside the external cap(2) to form appendages of said protective helmet(1) must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Re claim 2, the recitation “the temporary type” is indefinite as it lacks clear antecedent basis. Additionally, it is unclear as to the structure being claimed by the recitation.

In claim 3, the trademark “Velcro®” is indefinite as it represents a specific source rather than a specific structure. The examiner suggests the generic terminology “hook and loop” fastener. Also the claim is indefinite since the hooking means should be set forth in the alternative only.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4, 9, 10-12, 14-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Raney (US 3465363).

Raney teaches the invention as claimed including a protective helmet (10) of the type comprising an outer rigid cap (11) to which a shock-absorbing shell (15) made of expanded material is internally fixed, an internal lining (32) for the comfort of the user, and comprises at least one intermediate cap (12) made of non-expanded material situated between the inside of said shock-absorbing shell (15) and said internal comfort lining (32) wherein said at least one intermediate cap (12) comprises hooking means (35) for fixing said internal lining (32). Raney(US 3465363) also inherently teaches the steps of producing an intermediate cap (12) made of a non-expanded material; fixing said intermediate cap (12) to the internal surface of said shock-absorbing shell (15); attaching said internal comfort lining (32) by hooking means (35) to the internal surface of the intermediate cap (12).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5-8 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Raney (US 3465363).

Raney (US 3465363) teaches the invention substantially as claimed as indicated above in the recitation to claim 1. Raney (US 3465363) does not teach the specific material of fabric or film. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to provide the intermediate cap of Raney as fabric or film since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
